From Theory to Practice:
Sustainability Tools for Lifespan Respite Grantees and Partners
This project is supported, in part, under a grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration on Aging. Grantees undertaking projects under government sponsorship are encouraged to express freely their findings and conclusions. These contents, however, do not necessarily represent the policy of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and endorsement by the Federal government should not be assumed.

Financing Strategies--Examples

• Describes five strategies for sustainable financing of respite activities
• Provides specific Lifespan respite grantee and coalition examples of the five financing strategies
Make Better Use of Existing Resources

• Many Lifespan Respite grantees collect respite provider lists as part of a needs assessment or environmental scan.

• Some states have developed or expanded less costly respite using volunteers.
Maximize Federal and State Revenue

• The Nebraska Respite Network has relied on Tobacco Master Settlement Funds to support respite services and system infrastructure.

• The Arizona Lifespan Respite Program secured a contract with the state’s Title V program to fund respite services for children with special health needs through a voucher program.
Create More Flexibility in Existing Resources

- Alabama Lifespan Respite Network and Tennessee Respite Coalition draw on different state agency funds to provide respite vouchers through a coordinated funding stream.

- The Nebraska Lifespan Respite Network uses state funds and federal Part C Early Intervention funds to support the network’s infrastructure.
Build Public-Private Partnerships

• Using Lifespan Respite grant funds, the South Carolina Respite Coalition provided mini-grants to the faith community to engage them in respite service delivery.
Create New Dedicated Funding Streams

- Coalitions in Alabama, Colorado, Nebraska and Wisconsin successfully advocated for state budget line items to support respite services.
- Funding for the New Jersey Statewide Respite Care Program comes from casino revenues.
Exemplar Sites

Two grantees will be selected as Exemplar Sites and will:

- Receive coaching and technical assistance support from The Finance Project
- “Try out” the materials through a facilitated process
Assessing Readiness for Sustainability Planning

• What are your goals for sustainability planning?
• Have you identified 6-10 partners to participate in a planning process?
• Is the timing right for your group to engage in sustainability planning?
Next Steps

- Complete and submit exemplar survey by July 26
- Choose exemplar grantees by July 31
- Provide technical assistance to exemplar grantees in August
- Discuss progress, questions, challenges during September Lifespan Respite conference call.
